ACTION DELAYS PACKERS' TRIAL

Question Raised Will Go To Supreme Court.

WICKERSHAM HAS HIS DOUBTS

Officials of Department of Justice Declare That After Loud Protests of Innocent Beef Barons Display Remarkable Unwillingness to Face Jury of Their Peers—Arguments on Habeas Corpus Proceedings Are in Progress Today.

Washington, Nov. 16.—That the indicted meat packers are still fighting for delay is the construction placed by the department of justice upon the latest move made by the packers in surrendering themselves into custody and applying for a writ of habeas corpus to United States Circuit Judge C. C. Kohlsaat at Chicago.

Officers of the department said that for men who protested their innocence the packers showed a remarkable unwillingness to submit the question to a jury of their peers.

Attorney General Wickersham carried on considerable correspondence by telegraph with District Attorney Wilkerson. He gave him instructions and made suggestions of legal points. The attorney general did not go to Chicago to participate in the arguments in progress today in that city. Nor did he send anyone from the department of justice. He believes that United States Attorney General Wilkerson is competent to deal with the situation and that he can avail himself of the services of able counsel which are close at hand, including Senator W. S. Kenyon of Iowa, formerly assistant to the attorney general, who at one time had charge of the cases against the packers and whose services will be retained by the government in these cases.

It is evident that the attorney general and his legal advisers do not believe that the Chicago packers are attacking the constitutionality of the Sherman law as a criminal statute. They believe that the object of filing the petition for the habeas corpus is to bring about a stay of proceedings under the indictments. If Judge Kohlsaat denies the petition for the writ of habeas corpus the packers will undoubtedly appeal to the supreme court of the United States and then apply to one of the justices of the supreme court or circuit judges for a stay of criminal proceedings under the indictment. In this way still further delay will be interposed in bringing the criminal cases to trial.

DARKE COUNTY OFFICERS ARE FACING A JAIL

Darke's Prosecutor on Trail of Alleged Grafters.

Columbus, O., Nov. 16.—After a conference with Attorney General Hogan, Prosecuting Attorney John F. Maher of Darke county returned here to begin a grand jury investigation into alleged grafting that has been going in Darke county for a number of years. Indictments are said to be in sight against former state officials.

The action is a sequel to a report of a special committee appointed by Judge Teegarden to examine the affairs of Darke county, in which criminal prosecution is strongly recommended. It is reported that vouchers were made out and paid when no work was done or material furnished. The committee was unable to locate bridges that had been purchased and paid for by the county, and found that courthouse supplies disappeared, while in several instances it was reported that the county's own supplies were resold to the county and the money collected by officials.

Will Send Regiment.

Washington, Nov. 16.—A small force of regular troops will probably be sent from Manila on the transport Sherman within the next few days for China. The force will consist of about one regiment, or slightly more than 1,000 soldiers. They will be landed at Chinwang Tao. This detachment will take part in an international movement to patrol the railroad and telegraph lines between Peking and Tientsin.

DIGS UP ANCIENT HISTORY

Nebraska Governor Places Nazarene In Insurgent Class.

Kansas City, Nov. 16.—Jesus Christ was an insurgent, a radical, a progressive, a destructionist—who tore down conservatism and rebuilt an improved fashion—according to Governor Aldrich of Nebraska, in a speech to the transmississippi congress.

"It is true that he insurged," said Aldrich, "that he destroyed and tore down, and that he changed the order of things. But he tore down only that which ought to have been destroyed. The Nazarene demonstrated that progressiveness without destruction is a meaningless platitude."

"Progress means development both by transition and destruction. Much of the so-called conservatism means supinely sitting down and carping and quarreling with every suggestion for improvement, without the ability to point out anything better."

At the final session of the Ohio State Grange conservatives adopted a resolution to incorporate the order.

Much is expected of the new Chinese Premier who accepts work to preserve the throne of the Manchus.

The trial of the ten accused Chicago meat packers is again postponed.

Many accidents of a more or less serious nature occurred throughout the state yesterday on the opening of the hunting season.

Darke county officials are in an awful tangle with public accounts and face prosecution.

ADOPT CO-OPERATIVE SYSTEM

National Organization In Session at Columbus Has a Three-Cornered Fight on Its Hands Over Basis of Representation—Secretary Freeman of Ohio Boomed as Successor to Master Bachelor—Arbitration Treaties Are Indorsed.

Columbus, O., Nov. 16.—At the final session of the Ohio State Grange conservatives succeeded in getting an almost unanimous vote adopting a resolution which provided for incorporation of the order. This means that hereafter if any member of the order, without proper authority, takes it upon himself to express an opinion as representing the ideas of the grange, does or says anything which might be considered as libelous or malicious, the grange will have the law on him. There have been troubles like that in the grange, a recent case involving the initiative and referendum, and at least a fair per cent of the membership would put a stop to it.

The grange will be incorporated as a corporation not for profit. Capitalization and details will be left to a committee composed of L. G. Spencer, Niles; D. E. Dunham, Lebanon; J. S. Brigham, Bowling Green; Master T. C. Laylin, Norwalk, and Eugene Franz, Ira, secretary of the organization.

Resolutions were adopted providing for the election of a committeeman in each grange who, in conjunction with other grange representatives, will devise a better system looking to more complete co-operation of members in buying and selling. It is the intention of the grangers to buy such things as fertilizer, salt, machinery, etc., by wholesale, thus saving the middleman's profit.

Another resolution adopted at the closing session called upon United States senators to support pending arbitration treaties with foreign nations.

HAVE FIGHT ON HANDS

National Grange Divided on Question of Representation.

Columbus, O., Nov. 16.—That there will be some exciting incidents during the remaining sessions of the National Grange was forecasted when a report of the executive committee relative to the attempted expulsion from the order of George P. Hampton of New York was tabled; when so-called progressive delegates held two secret meetings to lay plans for a fight for a change in the representation scheme of the organization, and when stand-pat delegates postponed appointment of a committee to work in conjunction with a trio suggested by insurgents for the purpose of harmoniously selecting a new national master.

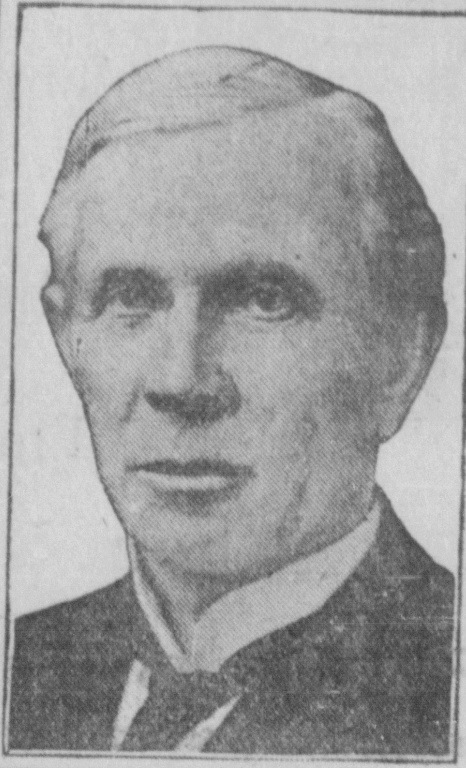

Fourteen Masters Caucus.

Equally as secret as the star chamber sessions of the reactionaries and insurgents was a meeting of 14 masters of as many state granges, who organized a middle-of-the-road group avowedly intent on a back-to-the-grange movement in the organization and the reclaiming of the order from either ultra conservative or ultra radical domination.

MUCH EXPECTED OF NEW PREMIER

Yuan Accepts and Will Work to Preserve Throne.

TASK LAID OUT FAR FROM SNAP

Tells Friends That He Will Not Attempt to Coerce Rebel Provinces, but Hopes They Will Soon See Error of Their Ways—If He Fails to Re-establish Confidence in Empire He May Become Head of Republic.

Peking, Nov. 16.—After giving the matter much serious consideration, Yuan Shih Kai has accepted the premiership. It is not known here whether he made up his mind under imperial pressure or whether his repeated refusals were merely due to the oriental modesty with which the bestowal of high honors is traditionally met. The acceptance materially improves the situation, at least temporarily.

Yuan told friends that he intends to form a cabinet and carry on the government in behalf of the throne as a limited monarchy. He relies upon the support of the provinces, but if any insist upon independence he will not coerce them, hoping gradually to win them to allegiance to the throne. Yuan evidently is doubtful of his ability to uphold the monarchy, being very much aware of the widespread disaffection, and if the present state of chaos continues it is to be expected that he will openly declare for a republic.

Much Depends on Convention.

All seems now to depend upon the decision of the national convention of provincial delegates shortly to assemble in Peking, in obedience to the edict issued. If Yuan be able to sway the convention for a monarchy, as it is believed he intends to try to do, the throne will stand, though its wings will be clipped and the parliamentary government will begin. On the other hand, if the delegates be divided and the southerners insist upon a republic, this may be established and the presidency offered to Yuan. The third possibility is a cleavage of the empire, the north being governed by a limited monarchy with Yuan as premier and the south establishing a republic.

It is useless to try to foretell whether this will result in the continuance of civil war or if the rebels will acquiesce. The happenings of the next few days are certain to prove of the greatest importance to China's future.

Revolt Habit Is Growing In Mexico

Mexicans Liked Madero Revolt and Will Try Another.

Monterey, Mexico, Nov. 16.—A reign of terror exists in the city of Culiacan, state of Culiacan, according to advices from there. It is said that many innocent people have been shot in the streets and that no security is offered either life or property. Similar conditions prevail in other parts of that state.

In the state of Tabasco the millionaire ex-governor, Policarpo Valenzuela, is boldly and actively promoting a revolution in behalf of General Bernardo Reyes.

In the state of Durango many bands of brigands and alleged revolutionists are causing disturbances. In the city of Durango a large store of arms was found in one of the principal bank buildings and this discovery led to the arrest of many wealthy and prominent citizens on the charge of fostering a revolution against Madero.

A Chinese Cavalry Patrol. Will They Catch the Rebels?

AS in the case of many another revolution, it is apparently the army of China which has decided the fate of the Manchu dynasty and ruling class. Yet for ages the profession of arms has been scorned by the Chinese, the soldier having been esteemed the inferior of the merchant and the farmer. It is only a few years since shooting with the bow was one of the recognized and highly commended exercises of the regular army, if any military force within the empire could be called regular. Since 1905, however, China has been paying a good deal of attention to her army, having organized an active force and a first and second reserve. The plan contemplated thirty-seven divisions, including all arms, and its projectors hoped that in 1913 these divisions would number nearly 500,000 men, of whom 380,000 would be available for active service. Japanese officers before the Chinese acquired a distrust of their energetic neighbors were the principal instructors of these modern drilled and equipped troops. Military schools have also been maintained in the various provinces. The effective fighting strength of the army was last year estimated at 152,000 men, of whom only 8,000 were cavalry. If all the mounts are of the kind shown in the illustration it is not to be wondered at that the regulars so seldom overtook the rebels.

THE CHANNEL SUICIDE MIX FEARED INSANITY EXPLANATORY LETTER

Letter Left by Channel Suicide Explains His Disappearance.

Paris, Nov. 16.—The contents of the letter which the American balloonist, Edgar G. Mix, left to the captain of the channel boat from which he is supposed to have jumped Sunday night, were made public by the authorities. The letter read:

"Dear Sir: Please excuse me for troubling you to have the letters in my overcoat pocket posted on your arrival at Calais. They announce to interested parties the fact that on account of my great mental depression and the feeling that I am losing my mind that I have jumped overboard from this steamer since it left the English coast this trip and will undoubtedly be drowned before you see this letter. Please send my overcoat to my address, Paris, 12 Boulevard des Invalides. My other baggage has been checked through to Paris. The baggage checks please send to my secretary, Pierre Hoblitzig."

The letter was written on paper of the St. Ermin's hotel, London, so it would appear that Mix had contemplated making away with himself some time before he jumped overboard. He had been in London on business relating to the automobile exhibition at Olympia.

Get Your Numbers Early

Automobile Owners Urged to Secure Their 1912 Numbers Immediately.

Clerk of Courts George Hitchcock, is in receipt of the following letter from the State Registrar of Automobiles, which urges all owners of machines to make application for their 1912 numbers immediately, and which is of great interest to everyone in general and automobile owners in particular.

The letter follows:

Dear Sir:—It is of the utmost importance that automobile manufacturers, dealers and owners file their applications for 1912 registration at once in order that there may be no delay in receiving the 1912 number plates, which will be shipped late in December.

ped late in December.

We respectfully suggest that you urge upon all motorists the importance of giving their immediate attention to this matter for their own protection. Automobile owners who have not secured their number plates by January 1st may be prevented by the authorities from operating their cars until they have complied with the requirements of the Automobile law.

Dealers and manufacturers, especially, should not delay in making application for the entire number of duplicate number plates desired for next year's business.

TWO EXTREMES MEET

An Unusual Coincidence Occurred at the Katz Store When Two Ladies, One From Alaska and One From Mississippi Meet

A very unusual coincidence occurred at the Leo Katz & Company store Wednesday, when Mrs. Frank Wolfe, of Candle, Alaska, and Miss Luna Moody, of Ellisville, Mississippi, met, the one being from the land of snow and ice, the other from the sunny South.

Mrs. Wolfe was accustomed to intense cold weather and boundless fields of snow and ice, and Miss Moody had never before seen the ground covered with snow, and had never known the pleasure of sleigh rides, snow balling, and had never set foot in the snow.

Mrs. Wolfe is the wife of Mr. Frank Wolfe, a son of George Wolfe, Sr., of the Columbus pike. Mr. Wolfe left this county some eight or ten years ago, making his way to the far west, and from thence to the gold fields of far off Alaska. His relatives did not know where he was located until they received word that he was in the gold fields, and prospering. He returned a few days ago, and is now visiting his brother and other relatives in this city.

Miss Moody is employed in the millinery department of the Katz store, and when she beheld the snow Sunday morning, was surprised and delighted, hurrying out into the thickest of the snow-fall and enjoying it thoroughly.

THE LIGHT IS DAWNING
FENTON TELLS STORY

Chapter Four in Sensational Case in Which Billy Fenton and Logan Woman Confess to Old Crime—Mrs. Fenton Stoutly Declares Loyalty to Erring Husband.

Chapter four has been added to the Billy Fenton case, and order is beginning to come out of the tangled web of circumstances surrounding the very unusual and sensational case.

All former stories were denied by Fenton and the woman who posed as wife No. 1, when they were taken before Mayor Allen Wednesday evening after spending the night and part of the day in the county jail. Both proved themselves experts in juggling the truth, and going under the old adage of "the truth itself is not believed by one who often has deceived" the last story of the pair is doubted, but there is some semblance of truth in it, notwithstanding the oft-repeated falsehoods given in previous examinations.

The woman, under confinement in her cell, had weakened, and said she would tell the truth. Her story was that she had met Fenton in Providence, Rhode Island, nearly ten years ago. He was singing and in vaudeville work, while she was selling laces, going from place to place throughout the country.

Each became infatuated with the other, and, according to the stories of each, traveled together for the next eight years, posing as husband and wife. Two years ago while at some point in the South, Fenton deliberately walked off and left the woman, leaving as little trace behind him as possible. She had not seen him since until Monday, when she met him at the home of his father-in-law, M. W. Dixon, at New Holland. She claimed that there had never been any marriage ceremony performed.

Fenton, who had had no opportunity to talk to the woman since they were confined in the jail, and who had not heard her last story, told a story similar to that of the woman in Providence, traveled with her, left her in the South, and had taken every precaution to keep out of her sight since that time.

Both were returned to the county jail, and word was wired to the Ashland, Ky., police to make a thorough investigation at that end of the line, and to communicate with the authorities here as quickly as possible.

Mrs. May Golden, who accompanied the Logan woman, or rather Kittle Donohoe, alias Kittle Castello, is still here, but claims to be without a cent to pay her way home, having been promised that all expenses would be paid. The Logan woman is said to have a money bag suspended about her neck, which contains a considerable sum of money.

Mrs. Fenton is still almost heartbroken, but has calmed down and believes Fenton will be released, and if he is, she says she will go with him to the ends of the earth if necessary. She utterly refused to return home with her parents, and claims she never will, even though Fenton is proven guilty.

IN SOCIAL CIRCLES

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Glascock and Mr. and Mrs. Walter D. Craig entertained the younger set at a handsome card party Wednesday evening in honor of Miss Pauline Millikan and Mr. Gerrie Spragg, whose marriage will be solemnized next Wednesday evening.

It was an affair of unwonted pleasure, diversifying a series of bridal affairs, entirely confined to the feminine sex, and giving the bridegroom elect an opportunity to share in the pre-nuptial events.

Fall vases of Chrysanthemums and jardiniere of pink and white roses added grace and beauty to the rooms, softly lighted through flower shades of rose color and myriad waxy candles.

There were many pretty evening toilettes in evidence. The bride-to-be was wearing her bride's maid gown of pink crepe de chine and shadow lace for the Ballard-Rusk wedding.

Mrs. Glascock wore white marquisette with black polka dots and trimmed in black, and Mrs. Craig, a pale blue chiffon gown.

Forty players engaged in a game of five hundred until towards midnight, when an elaborate supper was served.

Misses Jean Glascock and Bess Kerr assisted in the hospitalities. Mrs. Lucian Wells was an out-of-town guest.

EPPELSON-SMELTZER.

A large circle of Washington friends will be interested to learn of the marriage of Mr. William Eppelson, formerly of this city, now residing in Dayton, and Miss Nina Smeltzer Thursday afternoon at three o'clock, at the Christian parsonage. Rev. Hostetler, pastor of the Christian church, performed the ceremony.

The bride has been a popular saleswoman of the ready-to-wear department of the Katz store, and Mr. Leo Katz discovering the hour of the prospective bride and bridegroom's arrival at the Probate Judge's office for the license Wednesday afternoon, instigated a surprise party of the employees of the store that created quite a good deal of fun at the court house.

Mr. and Mrs. Eppelson left this afternoon for their new home in Dayton, where Mr. Eppelson is connected with the Cash Register. A cosily furnished home is in readiness for them.

WHITMER-BROWN.

Mr. Ellsworth Whitmer, of near Jeffersonville, and Miss Faith Brown of New Holland, were quietly married by Rev. Locke, at the M. E. parsonage Wednesday afternoon at five o'clock.

Both young people belong to well known Fayette county families and have the best wishes of many friends.

For Business Room

Within the next few days the large business room in the new Odd Fellows' building, corner Fayette and Market streets, will probably be leased to one of a number of applicants who have an eye on that splendid room.

During the past few days a number of out-of-town offers have been received, and the committee in charge is now considering the best of all the applications received.

The room is 44 by 82 feet, and in addition to this, a basement of like size goes with the business room. The room is splendidly finished and the entire front is fitted up with plate glass, and these, together with windows on the north side, make the room an ideal one.

CLUB NEWS

The Thanksgiving meeting of the Ladies' Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church was held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Jackson and was unusual in its large attendance and the interest manifested.

Mrs. S. D. Morgan, president, presided, and made mention of the special effort being made just now to double membership and also double interest in the great work of the Home, Foreign and Freedman fields.

Missionaries who are in the midst of Chicago disturbance received specially reference.

The roll call showed thirty new members on the list and others in prospect.

The thank offering mite boxes were opened and Miss Emma Jackson read a Thanksgiving mite box story which fitted in well for the occasion.

Miss Mazie Kessler gave pleasure in a piano solo.

The ladies lingered in a social hour much enjoyed.

TWO MEN.

The last election in Ohio has brought prominently into the forefront two young men who now give every promise of being important factors in shaping events political, and affairs pertaining to municipal governments in the Buckeye state for some years to come.

These two young men are Henry T. Hunt, of Cincinnati, and Newton D. Baker, of Cleveland, the last mentioned, a protégé of the late Tom L. Johnson.

Both men are exceptionally aggressive and brim full of the enthusiasm and optimism of youth. Both have come to the front in their respective cities through tremendous odds and are thoroughly deserving of the praise which they are now receiving and also of the chance to "make good", which the voters have accorded them.

Both of these young men seem to combine with their combativeness and enthusiastic determination, a pleasing personality which seems to be lacking in that other prominent young Ohio mayor, George S. Marshall, of Columbus.

However, one term in the trying position of chief executive officer in a large municipality, may develop in them the same tendency to irascibility which was, in a large measure, the undoing of Marshall.

Perhaps Henry T. Hunt, of the two men mentioned, is entitled to more credit for his success than is Newton D. Baker, because the odds encountered were greater.

Baker had at his back, in the campaign just closed, the old Johnson organization in Cleveland, than which there was none better in the state, and also the benefit of a decided tendency of the Cleveland people to return to Johnsonism which they had repudiated two years ago.

Hunt had the splendid Republican organization against him in Cincinnati, which left no stone unturned to encompass his defeat. In addition to this Henry T. Hunt enjoys the unique distinction of working because he likes the game. He is of a family independently wealthy and of high social standing, and could spend his time in idleness if he preferred, without the least degree affecting his comfort.

He has chosen the active life and has been up and doing at a lively rate, both in politics and in the discharge of his duties as prosecuting attorney of Hamilton county.

At Richmond, Virginia, on Tuesday, Mr. Hunt made the following remark: "They tell me that the mayorship of my city is a political grave yard. I am willing to be buried, but I'll do a few things first."

That remark is characteristic of the man who has won over fearful odds. He is a man who must and will do things.

The people of Ohio will watch with interest the official conduct of these two men. They are both of them men who do things.

Whether they will "do things" right or wrong and whether they will "do things" so as to increase their present popularity or in a manner which will reduce or wipe out entirely the good opinion which the public now holds for them remains to be seen.

They are men who will either grow rapidly in the estimation of the people or they will become immensely unpopular during their term of office. Neither man is a passive quantity. Neither can remain quiet.

The upheaval of the last election has thrown out upon the surface no more interesting subjects than these two men.

The Law Must Be Obeyed Even Though It Appears to Favor One Class of Society

By GEORGE W. WICKERSHAM, Attorney General of the United States

IN THE BATTLES OF ECONOMIC FORCES FOR SUPREMACY THE LAW MUST BE OBEYED, EVEN THOUGH IT SEEMS TO FAVOR ONE CLASS AS AGAINST ANOTHER.

A consideration of the nature of social organization will demonstrate the ABSOLUTE NECESSITY of all classes of society conforming to REQUIREMENTS prescribed by the duly constituted authorities, however wise or unwise those regulations may appear to those whose conduct is sought to be controlled by them. But within its constitutional scope the acts of the legislature stand until repealed as the mandate of organized society, and the continued effectiveness of organized society requires that obedience to such laws be compelled.

Modern penal legislation is based on a recognition of the expediency of endeavoring to reform the criminal, and so great a stress has been laid on that feature in dealing with criminals that "we sometimes forget that in order that punishment may act as a deterrent upon others it must appear as a badge of disgrace and not simply the bestowal of benevolence."

I favor the extension of the parole law to include LIFE PRISONERS. I regard it as an incongruity that prisoners sentenced to long terms for vicious crimes should be eligible for parole when the man convicted of second degree murder must remain in prison for life.

Poetry - Today

PLURAL AND SINGULAR.

We'll begin with box, and the plural is boxes,
But the plural of ox should be oxen, not oxes.
Then one fowl is goose, but two are called geese,
Yet the plural of mouse should never be meese;
You may find a lone mouse or a whole lot of mice,
But the plural of house is houses, not hices.
If the plural of man is always called men,
Why shouldn't the plural of pan be called pen?
The cow in the plural may be cows or kine,
But a bow if repeated is never called bine.
And the plural of vow is vows, not vine,
And if I speak of a foot and you show me your feet,
And I give you a boot, would a pair be called beet?
If one is a tooth, and a whole set are teeth,
Why shouldn't the plural of booth be called beeth?
If the singular's this and the plural is these,
Should the plural of kiss be nicknamed keesse?
Then one may be that, and three would be those,
Yet hat in the plural would never be hose,
And the plural of cat is cats, not cose.
We speak of a brother and also of brethren,
But though we say mother, we never say methren,
Then masculine pronouns are he, his and him,
But imagine the feminine, she, shis and shim.
So the English, I think, you all will agree,
Is the most wonderful language you ever did see.

A Cold Is

something that should be driven out of the system just as quickly as possible. While it exists it is a menace to life. It lowers vitality—breaks down the defenses of health. It is then that something far more serious may attack, and, without power to resist its advances one falls a victim.

If all colds were stopped in the beginning, when the first signs of them appear, the chills the sneezing, etc., there would be nothing to fear.

FAMOUS SUFFRAGIST

Began Life's Battle Handicapped by Fate.

Early Struggles of Dr. Anna Shaw, Head of the Suffrage Association, Who Won Success Against Many Discouragements.

Boston, Mass.—One of the ablest leaders connected with the woman suffrage movement in the United States is Dr. Anna Shaw, president of the National Suffrage association. She started for Albion college, in Michigan, with just $18 in her pocket. She had earned that $18 by teaching school at $1 a week, and after she had earned it she had to wait one year for the dog tax to be collected to get her pay.

Dr. Shaw was born in England, like those other pioneers of the suffrage movement, the Blackwells. But her parents took her into Michigan 52 years ago, when she was eight, having stopped four years in Massachusetts on the way. They traveled days and days in an old-fashioned prairie schooner to reach their destination. Then they lived in a log cabin. The cabin was papered with spare copies of Horace Greeley's paper, and Anna learned to read from the paper on the walls, beginning with the big letters in the advertisements and progressing to the editorials.

Miss Shaw spent four years in college and another four in the theological and medical schools of Boston university. Her people were deeply opposed to the whole plan and told her they could do nothing whatever to help her. During that eight years she had only $91 that she did not earn.

She lived in an attic without any fire—in a Boston winter. She studied in bed to keep warm, her breath making frosty clouds upon the air. She had not food enough to satisfy hunger.

One day she was sitting on the stairs. She had sat down because she felt too weak to get to the top. A woman whom she knew slightly came along and asked her why she was sitting on the stairs. When she found out she went away and borrowed $91 from another woman and gave it to Miss Shaw with the proviso that she was never to know from whom it came. That was the only help she had through her course. She repaid the money after she was graduated and never knew who lent it.

But about this time she acquired the warm friendship of Mrs. Persis Addy, a widow. During the final year of her course Mrs. Addy took her into her home, and though the student paid the same board she had been paying, she had for it the comforts of a good home and the devoted care of Mrs. Addy. Mrs. Addy had planned to go to Europe and take Miss Shaw with her as soon as the latter should have finished her course. She died just before commencement, but in her will left Miss Shaw $1,500 for the specified purpose of taking a European trip. When she was planning this journey Mrs. Addy's father said to her:

"Now, you will spend that money and it will be gone forever. Instead of cash, let me give you two bonds worth $1,500. Then I will keep the bonds for security and lend you $1,500 on them. When you get to work you can repay me as convenient, and when it is all paid the bonds will be yours again."

She did this, and having acquired a certain sentiment about the matter, has done the same ever since. She has left the bonds on deposit and let the interest accumulate, and they have paid the actual traveling expenses of her three trips to Europe.

Miss Shaw took the medical course because during her theological course she did missionary work in Boston. She found, to use her own words, that she "had nothing the people wanted." They did not want either her theology or her gospel. They wanted help in their material lives. She took the medical course in order that she might give them free medical treatment.

It was as a missionary doctor and preacher in the slums of Boston that Miss Shaw became convinced that there were certain defects in an all male government which called for political power in the hands of women. She had always believed in woman suffrage. Now she decided to work for it. She began to speak for the Massachusetts Suffrage association and from that grew her national work.

OHIO HAPPENINGS

Gets Life For Assault.

Akron, O., Nov. 16.—In sentencing John Kelly, 22, to life in the penitentiary for mistreating a little girl, Judge R. M. Wanamaker declared that he would have ordered that Kelly be unsexed if the law gave him that power. The judge will try to have the Summit county bar lead a movement to have the next session of the legislature pass a law providing for the unsexing of criminals of Kelly's stamp.

Coal Merger Worked Out.

Bridgeport, O., Nov. 16.—Twenty-five million dollars has been set aside by the capitalists promoting the combine of all the big coal companies in eastern Ohio to purchase the properties, it was announced. If the adjusters working on the valuation of all the included properties fix a price satisfactory to the mine owners, within the $25,000,000, the merger will be a fact within the next three weeks.

Six Hurt In Wreck.

Columbus, O., Nov. 16.—Ohio Electric car No. 285, eastbound, was derailed at the Big Four railway crossing over Broad street at Camp Chase and six were injured. None of the hurts is considered serious. After the derailment the body of the car tipped over the trucks and fell partly over the Big Four tracks.

monuments were erected in 1799 by Mrs. Johnson and her fellow prisoner, Mr. Labarree, to commemorate the dreadful march with the Indians from Charlestown, N. H., over to the Otter creek, then to Lake Champlain and Canada. The details of that march are dramatic.

Midway between daybreak and sunrise August 30, 1754, Lieutenant Johnson, wife and four small children, with other prisoners, were captured and forced on the march. Captain Straw pursued the Indians across the Connecticut and fought with them near the General Lewis Morris place in Springfield, but did not release the captives. They were twenty days in reaching St. Francis, Canada, where they remained as captives three years.

Two Railroad Systems Place Big Equipment Orders.

New York, Nov. 16.—President Brown of the New York Central lines announced that orders have been placed for 120 locomotives and 17,400 freight cars for all lines. It is thought probable that an issue of something like $15,000,000 in equipment trust certificates will be made to finance the purchase of this equipment, a portion of the expense being charged to equipment renewal funds.

The Baltimore & Ohio railroad is also in the market for 8,000 freight cars of various types, to cost in the aggregate $7,200,000. Orders for this equipment will be placed before the end of the year.

EVERYBODY'S BIBLE QUESTION BOX

YOUR BIBLE QUESTIONS WILL BE ANSWERED IN THESE COLUMNS, OR BY MAIL IF SENT TO THE EDITOR OF THIS JOURNAL.

Q.—Is it true that the "Highway of Holiness" is opened up now and that the way of salvation is so plain that a "wayfaring man though a fool shall not err therein" (Isaiah xxxv, 8-10)? If the way is so plain and clear and simple that a foolish person need make no mistake about it, then why is there so much confusion among the learned clergymen, Doctors of Divinity, etc., as to the proper methods of salvation, some teaching one thing and some another?

As an honest skeptic and one seeking to know the way of salvation, can you direct me the way of salvation, can you direct me to this "Highway"?

Answer.—We are not surprised that you have failed to find the "Highway." The Lord Jesus referring to the conditions of salvation during this present Gospel Age, declares that "Strait is the gate and narrow is the way that leadeth unto life and few there be that find it." As a matter of fact the Scriptures point out three ways:—"The broadway, leading to destruction," "The narrow way to life," and the "Highway of Holiness." (Matthew vii, 13, 14; Isaiah xxxv, 8, 9.) It is very evident from the conditions which you mention, that the latter of these ways has not been in existence thus far, but as the Scriptures affirm, it will be opened up for the world at the time of our Lord's second coming. Then when Satan, that old "lion" (I Peter v, 8), is bound (Revelation xx, 2), the Prophet's words shall be fulfilled,—"No lion shall be there," and "the redeemed of the Lord (the world of mankind) shall go up thereon with everlasting joy and singing upon their heads, and sorrow and sighing shall flee away."

GIRL ORDERS BABY SISTER

Little Tot Calls at Doctor's Office and Says It Is to Be Sent Immediately—Tells Mother.

Winsted, Conn.—Amy Bull, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Bull of Center street, called at the office of Dr. D. D. Reidy on Elm street and inquired if the doctor was home. She was informed that he was not and asked if there was any word she wanted to leave for the doctor.

"I want to leave an order," the child replied. "Tell the doctor to bring me a baby sister at once. They have got one in the next house, and I want one. You won't forget to tell the doctor, will you?"

Assured that the doctor would get her order, little Miss Bull continued on her way to High street to visit friends. Upon her return home Amy informed her mother that she had stopped at the doctor's office and added:

"I left an order for a baby sister."

Thanhouser. The combined atmosphere of the sea, the church and the home make this an appealing story.

Cupola Twisting Danger Feared

Considerable comment has been caused by the twisting of the cupola on the old Central school building. For some time the cupola has been out of plumb, but no great attention has been given it until recently, when it was discovered that the heavy cupola had swung over until it is very noticeable, but it is believed that no real danger exists. An examination will probably be made within a short time.

The old Central building, which may be remodeled and become a part of the new High school building, was erected back in 1855, fifty-six years ago, and in the 80's the top story was added. Repairs have been made from time to time, but the repairs have failed to strengthen the roof enough to prevent the cupola from leaning over.

"Marrying Justice" Says "Words" Again

Harley Jones, 19, farmer, of the Edgefield neighborhood, and Miss

Myrtle Boggs, 19, appeared at the probate judge's office at noon Wednesday and secured a marriage license.

They wished to be united in marriage without delay, so "Marrying Justice" T. N. Craig was called in and their wish was quickly granted. This is four couples Justice Craig has united in marriage within less than a week's time.

No Accidents Mar First Day

The first day of the hunting season passed off without a single accident in this county, so far as known, and an abundance of game was reported. Many of the local hunters bagged a great many quail and rabbit, and report a fine day's sport.

Rabbit are said to be unusually thick, and the number of quail is much larger than usual. Many of the hunters ran into the "posted" farms, and were quickly ordered off the premises. They report the farms posted against hunting, to be well stocked with both rabbit and quail.

Over in Greene county one serious accident occurred when George Copeland, a prominent farmer, was badly wounded in the hip when a gun in the hands of Mont Manor was accidentally discharged. Copeland almost bled to death before a physician arrived.

Wreck Causes Great Delay

A wreck on the B. & O. near Jackson, at the point where that road is crossed by the D. T. & I., caused a delay of 4 hours and 20 minutes of the north-bound passenger train on the D. T. & I., Wednesday afternoon, and instead of the train reaching here at 2:52 p. m. it was between seven and eight o'clock.

A truck on a freight left the track at the B. & O. and D. T. & I. crossing near Jackson, causing the delay. Wrecks at the above points are frequent, and the D. T. & I. is often tied up for hours.

Installing Phones To Dispatch Trains

The C. H. & D. railroad system is installing telephones for the purpose of dispatching trains, instead of using the telegraph, and the work is progressing rapidly on the Cincinnati to Toledo and Hamilton to Indianapolis divisions.

Whether the division from Dayton to Ironton will be strung with phone wires to supplant the telegraph, is not known.

Big Crowd Greet Girl From U. S. A.

The return engagement of "The Girl from U. S. A." attracted a large crowd at the Empire Opera House Wednesday night, and the production of this popular play was even better than upon the first occasion when the opera house was opened with the play.

All of the characters were exceptionally good, and drew round after round of applause. The play was the best produced at the Empire this season.

SAVED MANY FROM DEATH

W. L. Mock, of Mock, Ark., believes he has saved many lives in his 25 years of experience in the drug business. "What I always like to do," he writes, "is to recommend Dr. King's New Discovery for weak, sore lungs, hard colds, hoarseness, obstinate coughs, la grippe, croup, asthma or other bronchial affection, for I feel sure that a number of my neighbors are alive and well today because they took my advice to use it. I honestly believe it's the best throat and lung medicine that's made." Easy to prove he's right. Get a trial bottle free, or regular 50c or $1.00 bottle. Guaranteed by Blackmer & Tanquary.

Ohio State Fair Paid This Year

The State Board of Agriculture Wednesday turned $20,000 into the State Treasury out of the profits of the last State Fair. This sum, it was stated, would be increased another $1000 or more when some outstanding bills due the board are paid. Last year, on account of the street car strike, the state came out $16,000 loser on the fair. The year before a profit of $17,000 was made.

The board Wednesday approved the plans for the new serum manufacturing building, to be erected on the serum farm at Reynoldsburg at a cost of $14,400.

The Pythian Sisters' kensington will be held at the home of Mrs. Jess Blackmer on Rawlings street, Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Man Deserts Wife Divorce Suit Filed

After ten years of wedded life, Emma A. Taylor has brought suit against James I. Taylor for divorce and all other relief rightfully due her.

The suit was brought Thursday morning, and the plaintiff alleges that that she was married to the defendant on February 27, 1901, in Greenfield, and that she has always conducted herself as a faithful and obedient wife, but charges her husband with having utterly failed to provide the common necessities of life, and that he spent his money in "riotous living, drinking and sporting."

On Sept. 9, 1911, he abandoned the plaintiff, leaving her without means of support, and the divorce suit is the outcome.

REPAIR PAUL REVERE CHURCH

"Old North" Edifice to Be Closed to the Public for a Year.

Boston.—Christ church, the Old North church, from the steeple of which were hung the lights which sent Paul Revere on his ride through Middlesex, is to be closed to the public for a year while the edifice is being rebuilt and made fireproof. The danger of the old church's being destroyed by fire has been a menace for years.

stroyed by fire has been a menace for years.

"Hang a lantern aloft in the belfry arch," Longfellow makes Paul Revere say to his companion the night of the famous ride. A tablet on the wall of the church commemorates the famous incident. It reads:

The signal lanterns of Paul Revere Displayed in the steeple of this church, April 18, 1775.

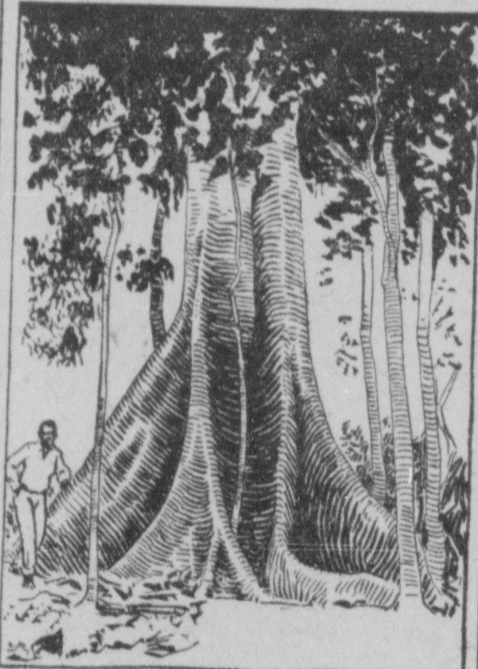

Warned the country of the march of the British troops to Lexington and Concord.

SAID 'SWEETHEART' TO HORSE

New York Driver Who Says Other Animal Is Named "Darling" Is Dis-missed.

New York.—As Mrs. Magdaline Petz and her husband of Brooklyn were crossing the street Samuel Rosen drove in a wagon.

"Step lively there, old sweetheart," Rosen called out.

So angered were Petz and his wife that they called Policeman Poole and had Rosen arrested. He was taken before Magistrate Breen.

"Why," Rosen protested, "I call one of my horses Darling and the other Sweetheart. I was just telling Sweetheart to giddy-up a little faster. I wasn't addressing the woman at all." He was discharged.

Woman Trapped in a Bed.
Kenton, Del.—Imprisoned for three days in a wrecked bed, Miss Elizabeth Graham was rescued just in time to save her life. She sat on the edge of the bed to undress when three slats gave way. The bed sank in the middle and closed upon her, holding her prisoner until neighbors came to the rescue three days later.

AN OLD FRENCH "CASTLE"

Fort Niagara at the Mouth of the Niagara River Has Interesting History.

Buffalo, N. Y.—No place in America possesses more interesting history than old Fort Niagara at the mouth of the Niagara river. The story of the possession by the Indians, then the French, British and Americans each in succession, and then by the British again and finally by the Americans, is intensely interesting. Many of the old buildings are still in an excellent state of preservation and are in constant use by the present occupants of Fort Niagara. The building shown in the illustration is the old French "mess" house or "castle," as it is now called. It was begun by the French in 1725 and finished in 1726. It is said to be the oldest existing masonry work west of Albany. Its dimensions as planned by the French were 105x47 feet. The brick used in laying the main floors was brought from France and much of the stone for the walls from Frontenac.

It is the tradition that the "castle" which is a very strong building, was erected by stratagem. A considerable, though not powerful, body of French troops had arrived at the point. Their force was inferior to the surrounding Indians. The French obtained consent of the Indians to build a wigwam, and induced them with some of their own officers to engage in an extensive hunt. The materials had been made ready and while the Indians were absent the French built the "castle." When the hunting party returned at night the French had advanced so far with the work as to cover their faces and to defend themselves against the savages in case of any attack.

MOUNTAINEER IS AN ADAM

Strange Man in the North Georgia Mountains Has Gone Naked for 61 Years.

Savannah, Ga.—Word comes via the North Georgia mountains of a strange man named John Castellow, who has grown to be 61 years of age, hale, hearty and happy, without ever wearing a stitch of clothing and without ever using a single word but the monosyllable "Gee!" Says a traveler from Harris, describing the marvelous person:

"He lives four miles east of Windsor, in Bertie county, North Carolina, and his health is perfect. He has not missed a meal in fifty years."

"When I visited him he was entirely nude. He is the strongest man I ever saw. His body is normal and well shaped, but his strength is prodigious. He can break a double plow line as easily as if it were a cotton cord. He is gentle and has never been known to hurt a living soul intentionally. He cannot speak a word except the one monosyllable 'Gee' which he uses in various intonations to express all his desires and emotions."

SHE SAVED 18 LIVES

Noted Woman Lighthouse Keeper Dies on Duty.

"Grace Darling" of America—The Only Woman to Hold a Commission From the Government in Her Work.

New York.—In the closing of the career of Ida M. Lewis, for 60 years keeper of the Lime Rock Light in Narragansett bay, one of the most famous heroines of the world passes from the stage of American history. Since early girlhood she watched the tumbling waters of the Narragansett from her little white house on the rock and through the long years her lights never failed to guide mariners to a safe port through storms and heavy mists.

Sixty years ago, when but a strapping of a girl, her father, the keeper of Lime Rock Light, was stricken suddenly ill. She took his place and for weeks, while the old man lay dying, she tended the lights. When he died she was appointed keeper in his place and since that time her deeds have kept her before the world in a remarkable way. Her record of rescues is 18 lives. Eight times she has ventured onto an almost impossible sea and taken struggling humans from the water.

The rescue that made Ida Lewis the most famous heroine of America occurred on a stormy morning in March of 1869. It was hardly dawn and Ida's mother was the first to awaken. From her window she saw two men, out in the raging sea, clinging to a boat that had turned turtle. Her screams awoke her daughter, who stopped not for shoes nor hat, but, clad only in a thin dress, dashed out of the house into the cold, driving wind and faced the snow and sleet. It took Ida fifteen minutes to launch her dory in the dangerously high surf. At last she pushed beyond the inshore breakers; and then she rowed for dear life. When the nearly exhausted men saw Ida one of them cried: "It's only a girl!" Whereupon he let go his hold of the capsized boat and sank. A moment later, when he reappeared, she seized him by the hair and with abnormal strength dragged him into the boat. The second man shouted that he was so frozen that he could not help himself and so a second time Ida pulled a half dead man out of the freezing water and into her little dory.

For all of her wonderful rescues Ida Lewis received fitting recognition. Congress honored her with medals. She was a pensioned member of the Carnegie Hero Fund and the Massachusetts Humane society rewarded her with a token of its esteem.

For years the home of Ida Lewis on Lime Rock was the Mecca of the world's greatest men and women. They felt themselves honored to be able to call on her. President Grant and General Sherman were among her most noted visitors.

Her latest recorded rescue was of a woman five years ago when she was sixty-seven years old. There are a number of brave deeds to her credit that have never been made known.

Thought It Was Coffee Until Wife Told Him!

ONE day the wife of a prominent Ohio man served Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH instead of coffee for dinner.

Her husband was very particular about his coffee. She didn't say anything about the change.

What was her astonishment as the meal passed and her husband didn't discover a difference.

He simply asked for an extra cup and remarked that "the coffee" was unusually good.

For ten months he drank Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH before he knew it. And then his wife told him!

Fitch's Grains of Health

The Coffee Substitute With the Coffee Taste

is the only substitute for coffee which smells like coffee—tastes like coffee—has all the coffee satisfaction—without a single bad effect of coffee.

People who dare not touch coffee, can drink all they want of Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH. It is good for them. Doctors recommend it.

In Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH a special high-grade blend of coffee is so combined with roots, herbs and vegetables that the caffeine is counteracted. It is a health drink! Try a package today.

Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH is sold by all leading grocers. The price is 30 cents the pound package. It is ground. Ready for use. It is just as easy to prepare as coffee—but only half as much Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH is required as coffee—a teaspoonful to a cup. Therefore it really costs only half as much as good coffee.

If your grocer cannot supply you, write us, mentioning his name, and we will send you a generous sample package of Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH (enough to serve a large family at breakfast) and a booklet telling you all about Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH. Enclose 6 cents in stamps for postage.

A HARMLESS WAY TO DARKEN THE HAIR

A Little Sage and Sulphur Makes Gray Hair Vanish—A Remedy for All Hair Troubles.

Who does not know the value of sage and sulphur for keeping the hair dark, soft, glossy and in good condition? As a matter of fact, sulphur is a natural element of hair, and a deficiency of it in the hair is held by many scalp specialists to be connected with loss of color and vitality of the hair. Unquestionably, there is no better remedy for hair and scalp troubles, especially premature grayness, than sage and sulphur, if properly prepared. The Wyeth Chemical Company of New York put up an ideal remedy of this kind, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, and authorize druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

If you have dandruff, or if your hair is thin or turning gray, get a bottle of this remedy from your druggist today, and see what it will do for you.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Special agent, Brown's Drug Store.

Shot From Ambush.

FJORDS OF NORWAY

Torghatten is a Perpendicular Giants' Cauldron.

Natural Tunnel Bored Through Great Rock During Glacial Period—Looks as Though Chiseled by Hand of Man.

Christina, Norway.—Like huge serpents of clear sea water the fjords of Norway wriggle miles inward into the land and offer to the eye some of the most picturesque landscapes in the world. At times the channel narrows between sheer cliffs to the width of a tourist steamer and then it suddenly broadens out into an inland lake bordered with meadows and deep green pine forests. Farther north glaciers and snowfields come down almost to the water's edge and nature is barren excepting where a few hardy plants struggle for a bare existence. According to geologists these intricate fjords were formed by the movement of ice in the glacial period. One mass of ice spread from Russia across the Baltic sea and Sweden to the valleys of Norway; the other pushed eastward from the Atlantic and it was in these fjords, then high-lain valleys, that the two frozen waves fought against each other, wearing away soil and strand until, when the ice melted, the valleys had disappeared and fjords had taken their place. But gigantic rocks and peaks which had resisted the friction of the glaciers remained.

There are at least 150,000 of these islands, some of them over 3,000 feet in height, and their grotesque shapes are not the least attractive feature in the weird panorama of broken sea and land. The most famous is the Torghatten, about five miles to the north of the Bindalsfjord in Nordland. Its shape, as indicated by its name, is that of a Norwegian market hat floating on the water and attaining a height of over 800 feet. What gives it its unique character, however, is a natural tunnel bored through it during the glacial period. As this tunnel is 400 feet above the level of the sea some idea can be formed of the extent to which the soil was worn away. In reality this strange hole is a perpendicular giant's cauldron in which stone, ice and water churned and swirled until they had perforated the rock in their frantic Arctic struggle and gained an outlet for the impatient masses behind. So perfectly did they carve the tunnel that in parts it almost looks as though it had been chiseled by the hand of man. On the eastern side it is only 64 feet high, increasing to 250 feet on the western. Its length is over 500 feet, the walls are almost perpendicular and the floor covered with the debris of ages and with remains of the last struggle, just before wave and ice retreated. Gazing through it from the western extremity the spectator is rewarded with a peculiarly framed panorama of blue water, rugged coast and jagged islands, with perhaps a quaint Norwegian fishing smack silently pursuing its way southward.

WAS BITTEN BY 2,000 DOGS

Denver's Dog Catcher Holds a Record but is None the Worse for His Experiences.

Denver, Colo.—Two thousand dogs have now had luncheon off Herman Carn, the official dog catcher of Denver, the last to take advantage of his generous girth being a hungry Newfoundland dog which embroiled his initials on Carn's back recently. Following his usual custom, Carn bathed the wound with carbolic acid, and then started off to provide a banquet for some other dog.

Carn has been in charge of the bow-wow bureau for years and picks up on an average of 10,000 stray dogs every year. At first he tried to keep track of his bites by making an entry in a book, but they came so fast that he had to buy an adding machine. Save for a couple of serious punctures in his nose, inflicted by a peevish pup, Carn's exterior appearance does not differ from that of the ordinary dog catcher.

It is not until he disrobes, as he did one day recently at the request of the city officials, that the extent of his patriotic services become apparent. His exquisitely carved anatomy is a splendid tribute to the artistic marksmanship of the canine family. His legs look like perforated music rolls, while his back resembles a cane bottom chair.

Thanksgiving Day in Washington

by Edward D. Clark

PRESIDENT TAFT'S method of celebration of Thanksgiving Day is in keeping with the traditions of his New England ancestors. The substantial giving Day place on the president's table are New England products. Rhode Island turkey, Cape Cod cranberries, and Massachusetts pumpkin pie, three absolutely necessary adjuncts of the holiday's keeping, form a part, perhaps the chief part, of the president's feast day's provender.

The president has eaten many Thanksgiving dinners in Ohio, at least two in the Philippines and if memory is not at fault, he ate one in Cuba. He never has missed his turkey, for he it known that persons of New England ancestry, no matter where they live, always take precautions to see to it that when the last Thursday in November comes, turkey, cranberry and pie shall have a place within the larder.

Holiday at the Capital.

Washington's native population does not make as much of Thanksgiving day as it does of Christmas, for Christmas is the great day in the south and a large part of the capital city's population is composed of southern people. It is a general holiday, however, and it is marked in every home by what the children of the family call a "big dinner." The markets of the city are filled with game, and in fact, game in many households which can afford the luxury, takes the place of turkey.

The cook at the White House excels at southern dishes. It is a good many years since a southerner sat in the chief chair of state, but northerners coming to Washington to live always have a first desire to taste the famed cooking of the south. So it is that whether Ohio or New York, or Indiana or any other state north of the line is represented in the White House a goodly share of the dishes prepared for the three daily meals have the flavoring of Virginia, South Carolina, and Louisiana. But on Thanksgiving day everything but food and cookery which have the savory essence of New England in them, is put under the ban and the president and family eat what the Puritan fathers ate in the days which now are only memories.

Thanksgiving day is a good deal of a church-going day in Washington, notwithstanding the fact that the holiday is regarded largely, as it is in fact, a New England institution. The president is a Unitarian, but last Thanksgiving day he attended a great Catholic church, where there were gathered all the representatives of countries where the Catholic religion prevails and nearly all the representatives of the other countries as well. Episcopalians, Methodists, Catholics, Congregationalists, Unitarians, Lutherans, and all the rest hold Thanksgiving day morning service in the capital, and let it be said that while the holiday is in every respect one surcharged with New Englandism the church attendance in this part of the country is larger than it is in many places in the land where Thanksgiving was instituted. The southern and semi-southern people are greater churchgoers than are those of the north.

Soon Learn to Cook Turkey.

Some of the foreign ambassadors and ministers bring their own chef cooks to Washington with them, and one of the first lessons which the kitchen artist must learn is how to cook turkey in American fashion. A Washington story is that President Arthur once broke a White House rule and dined with a European minister who happened to be an intimate personal friend, on Thanksgiving day. Mr. Arthur told his host that the turkey tasted as if it had been cooked in the kitchen of a New England housewife of unmixed Plymouth descent. He was told that it was cooked by a man who had come from Austria within three months and that he had never cooked a turkey before in his life. This story is told in Washington as an example of the adaptability of foreigners to America's ways, even to the ways of the kitchen.

There are comparatively few senators and representatives in Washington, although the opening of congress is but a few days in the future. The home instinct is strong at Thanksgiving time and it keeps most of the national legislators away from the capital at this early holiday season. The New England states are represented in the departments of Washington in the ranks of the clerks just as numerous as other states are represented. New Englanders always go home to spend Thanksgiving day, if they have the money, and if father and mother, or either, or brothers and sisters are living in the old homestead to prepare the old Thanksgiving day dinner and to welcome the wanderer.

Presidential Game of Golf.

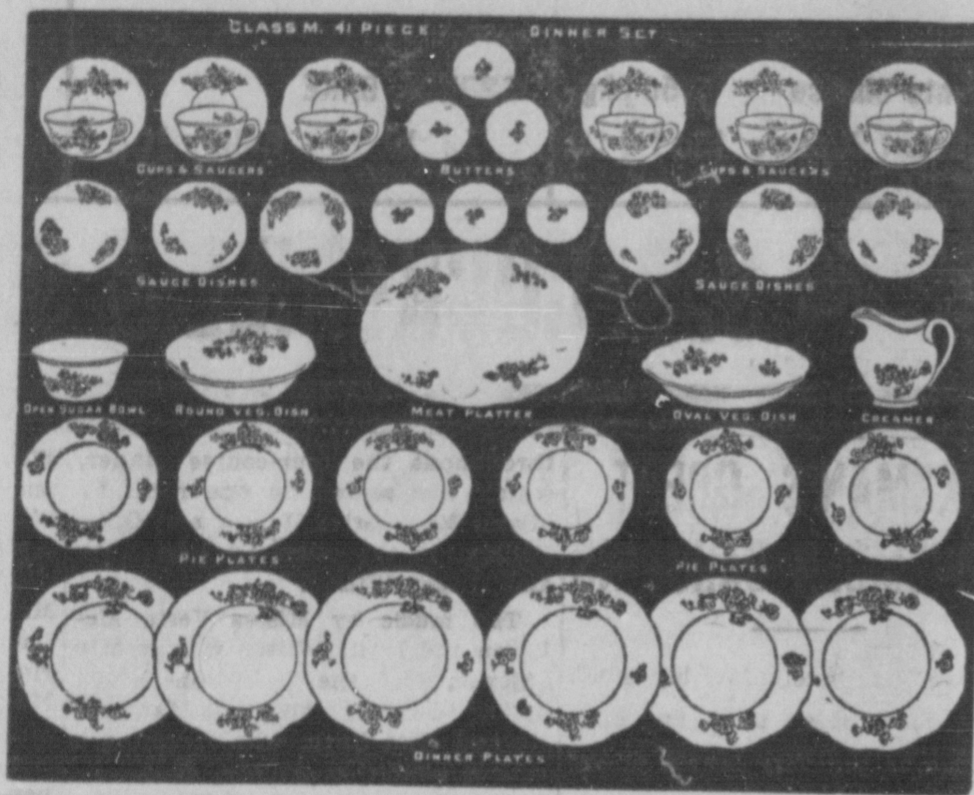

President Taft likes his holiday game of golf, and his Thanksgiving day appetite is whetted by a journey over the links in company with Secretary of State Knox, Brigadier General Clarence R. Edwards, or some other official golfer of renown. From the golf links the president, if he looks far off across the Potomac, can get an occasional glimpse of the redcoated fox-following members of one of the great Potomac hunting clubs. Thanksgiving day in Washington is marked as the day of the opening of the fox-hunting season in Virginia, which lies just over the river.

The old-time Virginians still follow the fox, and the ranks of the natives have been augmented in recent years by northerners who have come south to make their winter homes. Along the Potomac westward and a little northward from Washington a good many "great houses" are in process of erection. They lack the age and distinction of the old-time residences of Virginia and it may be that the native born ones resent somewhat this intrusion of the wealth of the north, wealth accompanied as it is frequently by an ostentation that is nothing short of vulgar. The new rich element, however, which is erecting homes in Virginia, is confining itself largely to the section of the Old Dominion near the capital and there it does not intrude to any considerable extent upon the time-honored reign of the old families who have lived in the state themselves and through their ancestry for hundreds of years.
